PROFILE

Devoted and academically successful undergraduate studying computer science who is passionate about academic support, teaching, and problem-solving. With a track record of successfully assisting students with educational content on platforms like Facebook and YouTube, I am an expert at demystifying difficult ideas and engaging with students in novel ways. I bring to the position both subject knowledge and the ability to teach. I am proficient in mathematics, C programming, core academic subjects, and Microsoft Office tools. As the creator of the Tech Connect community and the Code With Pritom YouTube channel, I have practical experience creating educational content and mentoring peers. I am excited to contribute as a Solving Associate by assisting students in succeeding through targeted and precise academic support. I am currently pursuing a B.Sc. in CSE at East West University.
